LOCAL AND GENERAL.

At the last quarterly meeting of the Warkworth Pioneer Lodge of Oddfellows, Mr A. W. Rayner gave notice of resigning his position as secretary, a post he had held for twelve years. Mr Walter Vipond, who has been 27 years treasurer, is the new secretary designate, and Mr Rayner is to take the treasureship.

Good congregations greeted Mr Paris last Sunday on his return from holiday leave. Mr Thos Sanderson Sr. so long a resident of the County and now living at Howick had a seizurs last week, which caused grave alarm to his friends.

In reference to native pigeon shooting this season the following wire from the Under-Secretary of Internal Affairs should be of interest to sportsmen :- "As some doubt appears to exist as to whether native pigoons may be shot this season, I have to inform you that the Government has decided that close season is to be observed in all districts this year for native pigeons."

The Northern Mail in an editorial on the need of lighting the danger spots on the run between Auckland and Whangarei states :- Two of the gravest dangers that lurk in the mariner's way in the sea area under discussion, are McGregor Rock well out at sea off Bream Tail, and Flat Rock off Kawau Island. The former does not constitute such a menace as the latter, as it always carries sufficient water for the average small vessel. Flat Rock is right in the track of all southern bound shipping. It is a grave danger to small and large vessels alike, and at presedt the only guide as to its locale is the red sector

The Warkworth Tennis Club has some good courts, and the players are anxious to have a clear title. Some hard work is being done, and the cooperation of the public is asked for to ensure success for a Fancy Fair which is to be held in the Town Hall on the 25th inst.

the people. The bachelors of Warkworth are giving a plain and fancy-dress ball in Town Hall on Friday, May 31st, for which complete arrangements are being made. The novelty of the ball, besides its being the first of the season. should prove a big attraction. Bachelors wishing to obtain a ticket may do so on application to any of the committee or the hon, secretary, Mr

L. T. Buckton. A fine porker was killed during the week by Mr T. McFarlane, at Messrs Guest and Son's butchery, for Mr A. Holliday, by whom it was fattened. It weighed when dressed 239 lbs.. which is the heaviest pig Mr McFarlane has handled in Warkworth. Despite its weight, the meat was of the primest quality.

The Warkworth public may look forward to a very pleasing entertainment to be given by our popular band members, assisted by the Black Diamond Minstrel and Dramatic Party, in the Town Hall, on Thursday, June 6th. Mr Alf. Rayner has been busy for some weeks past in painting two sets of scenes for the production, and these will do him the credit he deserves for his painstaking efforts. It will be remembered his painting a scene for the Old Hall, looked well, but the new ones are on a much bigger scale and far superior. The first part of the entertainment will consist of popular songs, interspersed with local gages and jokes in galore, including Mr C. Just and his family of talkeries. Several new songsters will appear and will be a suprise to all. A nicely balanced orchestra will add greatly to the singers. The second part will be a dramatic sketch entitled "Slopem's new Flat," which has been under rehearsal for some time and will be well ready to produce by the night of the concert.

NAZOL LIMITED. Your note re NAZOL to hand to-day. We have heard great praise from each person we have sold it to, and can speak highly of it ourselves, knowing what it has done in our own home. Yours faithfully,

In regard to the wreck of the Lottie, and the loss of the lives of Mr E. G. Phillips, Mr and Mrs Brown and the Maori girl which took place probably on the 22nd ultimo, the the breaking of the mast. There are iudications that an attempt was made to splice it, and the three bodies re-covered, that of Mr Phillips had just underpants and flannel on, while that of Mrs Brown and the Maori girl also showed preparation for an expected struggle for life. The word which came to hand just before we went to press last week stated that Willie Brown's body had been recovered, and that, that of the girl was still missing. The contrary is the case. Poor old Tenatahi, Willie's father, relying on his son's prowess in the water believes he must have got ashore and there died, A Maori lad, out shooting goats three miles north of Whangaruru hurbour, looking down from the high cliffs, thought he could see the form of a man lying on the beach. He clamborod down several hundred feet, and found the body of Mr Phillips. Mr Fraser of the Farmers Union rode over from Whangarei as soon as he heard the news, and did everything that lay in his power. After the inquest, and on the arrival of Mr Fred Grimmer the remains vere removed by boat to Helena Bay and on being oncased in a lead coffin, the long overland journey to Wark-worth commenced. Mr G. H. Phillips drove as far as Mangawai to meet Mr Grimmer. Some suspense was caused through the impossibility of getting south in the time expected, and Mr Grimmer was near to Mangawai before he was aware that relief was awaiting him there. It was evening when the party reached Warkworth on Monday night. THE FUNERAL.

There was a large gathering preent yesterday afternoon to pay the last mark of respect to the memory of one who was widely esteemed. The interment took place in the Anglican cemetry here, the Rev. Mr Paris reading the burial service.

Wedding at Whangateau.

The best man was Mr Guy Ashton (brother of the bridegroom) and the bride's father attended to give her away. At the conclusion of the ceremony Mr Harold Whittaker played the wedding march.

Subsequently, about 40 relatives and guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast in the half. Mr Harold Whittaker proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom in terms that met with much appreciation, and incidentally mentioned the presence of the contracting parties' grandmother, who had been driven over from Omaha to witness the happy event. Mr Jas. Ashton (father of the bride) responded. Some time was spent in harmony and speechifying before the newlywedded pair were driven to Leigh to catch the boat for Auckland en route for Taranaki, where the honeymoon s being spent.

The bride was the recipient of many useful and valuable presents.

On returning to Whangateau, Mr. and Mrs Ashton will reside on the farm which the bridegroom has taken over from his father, Mr George Ashton having taken up his residence in Warkworth.

Annual School Meeting at Ahuroa

The annual meeting of householders of Ahuroa school district was largely attended, about forty being present. No other nomination forthcoming, Mr Jenkins was called upon to preside. Several important matters were brought up at the meeting. Mr Woodcock, senr., in speaking to the outgoing chairman's report, remarked upon the amount of time that was taken up by the scholars in digging and attending to the garden instead of acquiring a fuller fund of general information and equipment for their future work in life as the present tendency being to make market gardeners of them. Ultimately, a motion was carried, whilst not censuring the existence of gardens as a tasteful environment, yet desired that the time spent by the children in school gardening be within reason. Another matter which was lost when put to the meeting was for a division of the educational interests of the district, it being thought that insufficient grounds had been advanced for splitting up the school district. The householders present unanimously passed a resolution urging the incoming committee to take up the matter of re-opening the school at Woodcocks. Several names were nominated as committee men, the voting resulted in favour of Messrs Sage, Jenkins, A. Woodcock jum., C.C. Woodcock and Jos. Week. ### Shooting Accident.

On Saturday last, two cadets working on Mr C. R. Anderson's farm at Matakana, started out on a shooting expedition. They had only proceeded 100 yards, when one of the two. Arthur Curry, a lad of 16 years, who was carrying a No. 22 peu rifle, with the hammer at full cock, slipped, and the butt of the rifle sharply striking the ground, caused the hammer to descend and explode the charge. The bullet went in at the right breast in an upward direction. Mr Parkinson came in for medical help, and Doctor lek-Hewins was soon in attendance. After an examination it was deemed best to move the sufferer into Warkworth, and he was accordingly shifted to Mrs Kerr's. On Sunday morning the father of the lad arrived by buggy from town, and in the afternoon it the service of Mr Curry, and Messrs Ray Guest, Holliday and Cullen undertook to accompany the injured one to

On inquiry from the Auckland hospital to-day, we learn that the bullet is lodged in the right breast near the shoulder, and is not causing the patient any trouble. For this
